Adjudicators' comments:

The exhibition was both educational and entertaining. Thinking outside-the-box, the museum successfully integrated cutting-edge technology and a number of appealing multi-media elements into the presentation of the relics. The exhibition enjoyed great popularity and was widely covered by the media. It thus acted to broaden the museum's customer base. Experts from mainland China, Taiwan and other countries also visited the exhibition and these exchanges served to raise the profile of Hong Kong's museums. The team members collaborated seamlessly with great enthusiasm and admirable courage to overcome challenges.
